FALL 2018 UNDERGRAD COURSES in ANCIENT MEDITERRANEAN STUDIES

Classical Humanities
ClHum 1050: Greek and Latin in English
MWF 9:00-9:50am; Staff
Improve your medical, legal, scientific, and technical vocabulary by studying the influence of Greek and Latin on English; great for boosting test scores on standardized exams like the MCAT, LSAT, and GRE.

ClHum 1060: Classical Mythology
MWF 12:00-12:50pm; Prof. James Crozier
Learn about the myths of the ancient Greeks and Romans through literature, art, and religion.

ClHum 2100: Greek Culture
MWF 10:00-10:50am; Prof. Dennis Trout
An introduction to the history and culture of the ancient Greeks, focused on three themes: war, wisdom, and sexuality.

ClHum 2300: Greek Classics in Translation
TuTh 12:30-1:45pm; Prof. Sergio Yona
Read the greatest works of ancient Greek literature.

ClHum 2300H: Greek Classics in Translation - Honors
MWF 1:00-1:50pm; Prof. Theodore Tarkow
Read the greatest works of ancient Greek literature, for Honors credit.

ClHum 3150: The Age of Augustus
TuTh 2:00-3:15pm; Staff
Study the golden age of ancient Rome through its art, architecture, history, and literature.

ClHum 3400: Murder and Mayhem
MWF 11:00-11:50am; Prof. Barbara Wallach
Examine ideas of justice from Homer through the early Roman Empire; explore personal vengeance, law courts and trials, philosophical attitudes, women and courts, and techniques of persuasion.

ClHum 3600: The Ancient Novel
TuTh 11:00am-12:15pm; Staff
Read and analyze the surviving works of Greek and Latin prose fiction: ideal and comic romance, fantasy, and romantic biography.

ClHum 4600WI: The Classical Tradition
TuTh 9:30-10:45am; Prof. David Schenker
Learn about the reuse, rewriting, and re-performing of Greek tragedies in Africa and the African diaspora. This course satisfies the upper level Writing Intensive requirement.
Archaeology

ArHA 2005: Topics in Art History and Archaeology - Pompeii
MWF 10:00-10:50am; Staff
Discover the ruins of ancient Pompeii, a city perfectly preserved by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in 79 CE.

ArHA 3310: Greek Art and Archaeology
MWF 11:00-11:50am; Prof. Susan Langdon
Examine the material culture left behind by the ancient Greeks, from the greatest works of Greek art and architecture to the smallest traces of everyday ancient life. This course covers Greece from the earliest times down to the Hellenistic period.

ArHA 3510W: Byzantine and Islamic Art and Archaeology
TuThu 9:30-10:45am; Prof. Marcus Rautman
Enter the visual world of the Middle Ages in southwest Asia and the eastern Mediterranean, from late antiquity through the rise of the Ottoman Empire. This course satisfies the upper level Writing Intensive requirement.

ArHA 4420: Minor Arts of Antiquity
TuThu 11:00am-12:15pm; Staff
Discussion of selected minor arts and crafts of the ancient Mediterranean world.

ArHA 4490: Late Antiquity
TuThu 2:00-3:15pm; Prof. Marcus Rautman
Exploration of the material culture of the Mediterranean world from the 3rd century AD to Iconoclasm.

Classical Humanities Online

ClHum 3250: Greek and Roman Epic
Online Self-Paced; Prof. James Crozier
Read the great works of ancient epic, including Homer’s Iliad and Odyssey, and Vergil’s Aeneid.

ClHum 3775 (W): The Ancient World on Film
Online Self-Paced; Prof. James Crozier
Look at the depiction of ancient Greece and Rome in 20th- and 21st-century film. This course is available with or without Writing Intensive credit.

Greek and Latin

Greek 1100 (H): Elementary Greek I
MTuWThF 1:00-1:50pm; Prof. David Schenker
Begin learning the language of the ancient Greeks. You’ll master the basics of Greek grammar, and read a number of ancient texts. Satisfies the Foreign Language Requirement; available for Honors credit.
Greek 2000 (H): Greek Reading
MWF 10:00-10:50am; Staff
You did the hard work of learning Ancient Greek grammar: now you get to read Greek! This course completes the Foreign Language Requirement, and is available for Honors credit.

Greek 4560: Greek Historians
MWF 2:00-2:50pm; Prof. Barbara Wallach
The Greeks coined the term “history”; in this course, you’ll get to read selections from the first Greek historians, including Herodotus and Thucydides.

Latin 1100: Elementary Latin I
Section 1: MTuWThF 10:00-10:50am; Staff
Section 2 (H): MTuWThF 11:00-11:50am; Staff
Begin learning the language of the ancient Romans. You’ll master the basics of Latin grammar, and read a number of ancient texts. Satisfies the Foreign Language Requirement; available for Honors credit.

Latin 1200: Elementary Latin II
MTuWThF 1:00-1:50pm; Staff
Continue your study of the language of the ancient Romans. You’ll master all of Latin grammar, and begun to be able to read ancient texts fluently. Satisfies the Foreign Language Requirement.

Latin 2000 (H): Latin Reading
TuTh 9:30-10:45am; Staff
You did the hard work of learning Latin’s grammar: now you get to read Latin literature. This course completes the Foreign Language Requirement, and is available for Honors credit.

Latin 4300: Latin Poetry
MWF 2:00-2:50pm; Prof. Sergio Yona
Learn to read Latin poetry by examining some of the greatest works of the Roman poetic canon.

Latin 4500: Latin Stylistics
TuThu 2:00-3:15pm; Prof. Raymond Marks
Learn to write your own Latin, while studying the styles of the greatest Roman authors.

Latin 4580: The Theodosian Age
TuTh 3:30-4:45pm; Prof. Dennis Trout
Read Augustine’s pioneering memoir The Confessions, along with a selection of other works of Latin literature from later antiquity.
FALL 2018 GRADUATE COURSES in ANCIENT MEDITERRANEAN STUDIES

ArHA 4420: Minor Arts of Antiquity
TuThu 11:00am-12:15pm; Staff
Discussion of selected minor arts and crafts of the ancient Mediterranean world.

ArHA 7490: Late Antique Art and Archaeology
TuThu 2:00-3:15pm; Prof. Marcus Rautman
Exploration of the material culture of the Mediterranean world from the 3rd century CE to Iconoclasm.

ArHa 8320: Seminar in Greek Art and Archaeology
M 3:00-5:00pm; Prof. Sue Langdon
Special subjects of study assigned for individual members; discussion of reports by seminar members.

CLAS 7000: Intro to Graduate Studies
Arranged; Staff
Required for first-year graduate students in AMS

CLAS 9287: Seminar in the Hellenistic Age
TR 12:30-1:45pm; Prof. Anatole Mori
Readings, discussion, and assigned projects on Theocritus, Callimachus, Apollonius and other Greek poets of the 3rd century BCE.

Greek 7560: Greek Historians
MWF 2:00-2:50pm; Prof. Barbara Wallach
Reading and analysis of selected texts by major Greek historians like Herodotus and Thucydides.

Latin 7300: Latin Poetry
MWF 2:00-2:50pm; Prof. Sergio Yona
Learn to read Latin poetry by examining some of the greatest works of the Roman poetic canon.

Latin 7500: Latin Stylistics
TuThu 2:00-3:15pm; Prof. Raymond Marks
Learn to write your own Latin, while studying the styles of the greatest Roman authors.

Latin 7580: The Theodosian Age
TuTh 3:30-4:45pm; Prof. Dennis Trout
Read Augustine’s pioneering memoir The Confessions, along with a selection of other works of Latin literature from later antiquity.